

Help Service Members Make Smart Money Moves

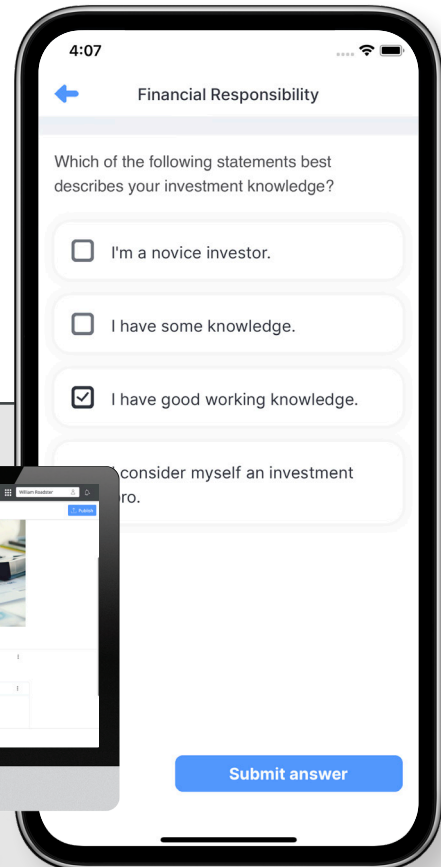

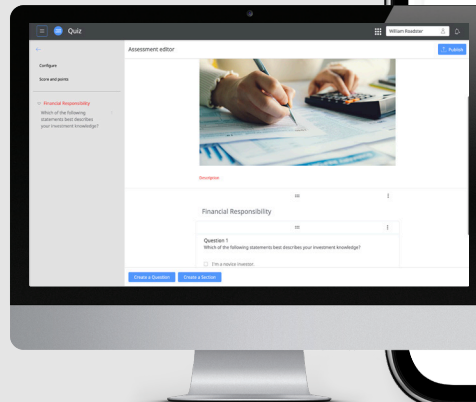

From financial literacy and budgeting to BRS and TSP, how-to strategies, mortgages and foreclosures, Service members and their families have a lot of complex information to learn and retain.

Free readiness information and courses explaining the intricate financial environment that military life brings are available to all on each installation. Still, are Service members and their loved ones getting the most out of these resources? Are they confident and prepared when it comes to implementation and fulfilling their financial responsibilities?

Assessments

Use our Assessments module to evaluate the financial literacy of Service members and their family members. Offer specific questionnaires, tests or assessments where users can evaluate their financial status, risk and personal knowledge.
